(AND PROBABLY EVER, FOR AT LEAST THREE MORE YEARS)

THE YEAR THAT WILL BE 2011

- * MORE TRADE-O-REES THAN EVER BEFORE

FROM THE EDITORS

David Weda, Publisher Robert Mathis, Editor

2011! The beginning of a new decade, and the twentieth year of the newsletter. It seems like just yesterday when Robert was literally cutting and pasting the articles and photos to put the early issues together. When the scanning of patches were done in the computer labs at the University of Florida, with the only scanners that were available to use (when flatbed scanners were over $1000 each). And when everyone received their copy delivered by the US Postal Service..

The 2010 in review. As expected, the 2010 National Scout Jamboree was the inspiration/ reason for a great bulk of the issues created by the councils and lodges of Florida. Of the nine councils in the state (including Gulf Coast Council in Pensacola), a total of 82 different items were created in 2010 (JSPs, jacket patches, embroidered luggage tags, etc), averaging over nine per council, and this doesn't include items available in 2009.

The next big things. While the value of mid-level items seems to be dropping (items that used to sell for between $100 and $500), some neglected genre seems to be gaining popularity and demand.

The pre-1970s style red-and-white council shoulder patches are being sought for more than just authentic old uniforms, and the old community and state strips are becoming more collectable. In 2008 and 2009, the newsletter of the International Scouting Collectors Association printed a list of the known Red/ White community strips, which seemed to coincide with the renewed interest in these patches, and their older predecessors (pre-1952), that were colored to match the colors of the uniform for the particular Scouting program. What once sold for 30 cents each in the 1970s are now bringing between $5 and $20, depending on the condition and the obscurity of the community name. And while many community strips were used in different parts of the country, the research in tracking down locally used community strips has yielded some fascinating results. Several members from Central Florida Council have pulled together images of their own collections to create an impressive display, with many previously unknown communities represented. Hopefully, we'll have more in a future issue about their efforts and results.

Also receiving some newly-found attention are hiking and historical trails and medals. While there aren't that many that had been issued for Florida trails (several in north Florida, at least one in south Florida), many troops over the years participated in trail programs in areas with more trails, such as Tennessee and Alabama. While some demand could be credited to returning Scouters trying to regain emblems of their youth by re-acquiring their long-lost patches and medals, a few collectors from across the country seem intent on getting everything possible, and their bids show it.

THE TWO TRADE-O-REES

For the first time, the state of Florida had two trade-o-rees in the same year. And as luck would have it, they were on consecutive weekends in February.

Palm Beach TOR; February 11-12, Tanah Keetah SR, Jupiter. This was the inaugural effort for this TOR, a fundraiser for Gulf Stream Council. Bill Jones did a great job putting together an event like this out of thin air, and was a complete sell out of the 50 tables weeks ahead of the weekend. The TOR benefited from being on a weekend with no other trade-o-rees occurring in the southeast on the same weekend, and had several large dealers from out of town. Staff was friendly, food was very good, and on-site (rather rustic) lodging was available. On the down side: the free venue (the camp dining hall) was very crowded with 50 tables, with no room for growth unless moved to a larger, more expensive facility that is closer to a main road or a town. There are plans to hold the event again next year at the same time, and hopefully they will build upon these successful beginnings.

Sunshine TOR; February 18-19, National Guard armory, Orlando. This was the 23rd Sunshine TOR, and at a new location (its seventh). Howard Gross and Gene Lint headed the committee that brought this event back to February, and to a venue closer to Orlando (almost, but not quite downtown Orlando). The 86 available tables sold out prior to the weekend, and the armory was almost cavernous compared to the weekend before at Tanah Keetah. Lots of room, and great amenities. The location was very accessible, with lots of walk-in traffic, including tourists from out of state that showed up solely because of the signs by the main road. The auction on Friday night was very successful, highlighted by the sale of a 1979 SE-6 Conference maroon border patch for over $550. The downside: several professional dealers had made commitments to a Trade-O-Ree in Virginia for the same weekend., that will also conflict with next year's date. But hopefully, that event will have to contend with people cancelling plans to attend their TOR in cold Virginia in February, in order to be in the warmer climate of Florida.

NEW ISSUES

> 2011 is the 75th anniversary year for Seminole Lodge 85. For the occasion, the lodge has issued a flap (S-58), and a bullion (B-3). Like the activity patches for this year, the anniversary flap has a rivet with a diamond-shaped top on the front of the patch. It is reported that only 95 bullions were produced.

> O-Shot-Caw Lodge 265 has issued their 2010 Lodge Executive Committee flap (S-136), two per member. The letters "LEC" are embedded on the right side of the flap.

> Aal-Pa-Tah Lodge 237 has a new regular issue flap (S-106). This is the first of several flaps to be issued by the lodge this year, as they are hosting the 2011 Section Conference.

> Echokotee Lodge 200 has a new Elangomat patch (P-6), issued to those that serve as an Elangomat for their Ordeals. It has the same design as its predecessor, with a BLU "BSA". A total of 100 were made. Echokotee's Saturiwa Chapter created a patch of their own (X-1), producing a total of fifty patches.

> North Florida Council has another four shoulder patches created for their 2010 Winter Blast resident camp program (Scout, Webelos, Venturing, Staff). Just one problem: all four have the year 2011. A reorder of the staff version is being discussed.

THE RUMOR MILL

* For the upcoming S-4 Conference, Aal-Pa-Tah Lodge 237 will have available for its members to purchase two different host flaps, a dangle, and a neckerchief. There will also be another dangle available with a service requirement, and an embroidered host neckerchief, as a recognition piece (similar to what they created for the 1997 and 2004 Conferences).

* Timuquan Lodge 340 has exhausted their supply of the regular issue flap, and have created a new design to replace it. Plans are to have them available by their Spring weekend.

* 2011 is the 70th anniversary year for Echockotee Lodge 200, and a commemorative flap will be created, hopefully in time for the Section Conference. At the lodge's Summer Fellowship, the new "First Year Arrowman Award" should also be available.

* Central Florida Council has a brochure for their 2011 FO$ campaign, showing artwork for three FO$ CSPs, for different donation levels ("Baden-Powell level", $1000/ year; "Character Partner level", $1200 in three years; "Leadership level", $500/ year).

+ The design of the Seminole 85 anniversary flap and the bullion are based upon a fictional patch created for Kiondashama 85 (the earlier name of the lodge before becoming Seminole in the 1940s). The fake was found on eBay a few years back, sold by someone who had created emblems for lodges that had not created an emblem before.

+ The 2011 Section Conference items are available for ordering, at http://www.sections-4.org/Trading_Post/index.php?from=index. For the first time, the patches for the VIA Luncheon and Vigil Breakfasts will be available for ordering, by anyone. To be made available are the usual patch, neckerchief, jacket patch, pin, and chenille, along with a belt buckle and "special edition patch", but no neckerchief slide or mug.

+ 2011 lodge activity patch themes (so far):

- Seminole (85): scenes from Gulf Ridge Council.
- Echockotee 200: Ships Named "Florida".
- Aal-Pa-Tah 237: Older Lodge Patch Designs.

- Semialachee 239 and Osceola 564 are unknown at this time.

As seen on eBay:

- Tipisa Lodge 326 held their annual "Native American Weekend" in February, a council-wide event with over 1200 attendees. The weekend had more participants than participant patches, and the staff patches were much easier to obtain than those given to each attendee. One participant patch sold on eBay for $51.
- Two back patches from the 1970s for ushering football games at Florida State University recently sold; one for $26, another for $19.50.
- O-Shot-Caw 265 F-1, mint condition: $600. F-2, $295 (February); $263.87 (March).
- Tipisa 326 1978-79 year patch ("hammerhead shark"): $75.
- O-Shot-Caw 265 1978 Disney Extravaganza III activity patch: $248.50.
- And then, this patch:

It's the 2008 S-4S Conference patch design, with a rolled edge and a much better rendition of the artwork. The buyer picked this up from someone on eBay, who received it in a lot of patches that he bought from a manufacturer. It could be a pre-production sample, but the Section leadership at that time said that they have never seen this version. Has there ever been a fake that was made better than the original?
